Sofia. The introduction of 112 emergency phone number is Bulgaria's obligation, but it is also a matter of funding, said Yordan Tsonev, deputy chairman of the Movement for Rights and Freedoms, quoted by Focus News Agency.

According to him the problem in introducing 112 is first of all the lack of funding. Only then comes the organization issue. He added that part of 2006 and 2007 budget surpluses had been used for the emergency number. Tsonev stressed 112 would be launched, but it was a matter of time.
